

The Dogs and the Fox

Some Dogs found the skin of a Lion and furiously began to tear it with their teeth. A Fox chanced to see them and laughed scornfully.

"If that Lion had been alive," he said, "it would have been a very different story. He would have made you feel how much sharper his claws are than your teeth."

It is easy and also contemptible to kick a man who is down.

Moozie says, "Be kind to others and be kind to animals! If you see someone who has fallen, do not kick or step on them, but help them get up. If you find a live worm on the sidewalk, move it to grass or dirt where it might find comfort and food."
